

Press Release

Paris, February 2nd 2015

Welcomeurope, partner of Paris 8 University and of IEPP for the new degree « European project management and engineering »

Welcomeurope, consultancy firm in European funding, has been requested by Paris 8 University to take part in the educational engineering and the animation of large parts of the programme of the Higher education university diploma (DESU) « European project management and engineering ». This in-service training degree of Bac+4 level, trains 23 future specialists of European project management from January 2015. Strongly oriented towards practical matters, this diploma allows acquiring abilities and tools to create folders and gaining funding as well as well as ensuring the financial set-up of a European project.

According to Lorraine de Bouchony, Director-General of Welcomeurope «Companies as well as private and public bodies must realize that EU grants are major leverages for development and innovation. During the 7 next years, the European Union will spend €960 billion on these funding programmes. However, to seize these opportunities, they must master this ability by integrating and training professionals of EU funding».

Through this partnership with Paris 8 University and the European Institute of Public Policy (IEPP), Welcomeurope strengthens its position as a leader in European funds
